46th Annual Waban Telethon

The 46th Annual Waban Telethon will be held on Saturday, March 18th, 2017 at the St. Ignatius Gym on Riverside Avenue in Sanford, from 10am to 6pm. Proceeds from the Telethon will again be directed to Waban’s new Autism Therapy Wing. With 1 in 68 children being diagnosed with autism, there are more southern Maine children in need than there are facilities to serve them. Waban is responding to this crisis and to the long list of children waiting for services by building a new Autism Therapy Wing at our Fraser-Ford Child Development Center. Construction is slated to begin in just a couple months!

Television coverage will be produced by Metrocast Cablevision (Channel 12) in conjunction with Time-Warner Cablevision (Maine Channel 9 and NH Channel 21 & 22). This year’s viewing area will include all of Maine and southern NH. The Telethon is sponsored by St. Thérèse of Liseux Parish Catholic Church of Sanford-Springvale.

Hosts for the day will include the ever-popular Kevin Mannix, RJ & Jim Legere, Dave Stevens from “The Legends” local radio station, and Melissa Hall joining Neal Meltzer, Waban Executive Director and Gervaise Flynn, Deputy Director. The Legends will be doing a simulcast of the Telethon, so you can tune in on 102.3 FM or AM 1220.

Certificates for merchandise and other gifts, donated by merchants, businesses, and individuals, will be given away for donations and pledges throughout the day. More details are being added daily to Waban’s facebook page at www.facebook.com/wabanprojects, and we’ll be tweeting throughout the day with updates @wabanmatters.
As I am writing this, we are just cleaning up after another February snow storm. It seems that Punxsutawney Phil wasn’t kidding around when he decided that we would have 6 more weeks of winter! That’s okay because soon enough it will be March, and in March comes spring and of course the Annual Waban Telethon!

This year will be the 46th Annual Telethon, and it is lining up to be another great one. There will be lots of gifts and raffle items available for donations, our usual outstanding dancers and musicians to keep your feet tappin’, celebrity guests, a children’s craft area, delicious food from the Knights of Columbus, interviews with parents about what Waban has meant to them and their child, and much, much more.

So, save the date…. March 18th from 10:00AM to 6:00PM at the St. Ignatius Gym on Riverside Avenue in Sanford and look for more information in this issue.

All the proceeds from this year’s Telethon will once again be going towards our Capital Campaign to build an Autism Therapy Wing onto the Fraser-Ford Child Development Center. To date, through the generosity of over 700 community members, we have raised over $1 million dollars!! We are halfway there to our fundraising goal and are scheduled to break ground in the spring and start using the addition in September of 2017. With 1 out of every 68 children having a diagnosis of autism, the need is greater than ever.
Happenings

Throughout the rest of Waban, things have been very busy. Please see the great stories about all the wonderful things going on and how every day, at Waban we are making a difference.

Until next time, take care and keep your snow shovels ready, and thanks again for your ongoing support.

Take care and be well,
Neal

The Work of Champions

Hard work, dedication, tenacity, commitment, collaboration, perseverance, succeeding against all odds when no one thinks you can… these characteristics were on vivid display on Super Bowl Sunday by the Patriots when the efforts of many individuals became aligned and achieved something magnificent and beyond their own individual reach.

While it may seem that the Patriots and football itself are unique in having and requiring that level of effort and achievement, I can think of another “field of work” that has many similarities… providing services to the children and adults that Waban has so proudly served for 50 years. Fifty years is a long time. During those 5 decades, day after day and year after year it has taken those same characteristics, that same level of dedication and commitment and perseverance to advocate, build systems of care for, and support these fragile yet exceptionally worthy and deserving individuals.

Parents, family members, guardians, care-givers, provider agencies, and supporters such as each of you have steadfastly refused to accept “no” for an answer, have refused to let

Happy Holidays and Happy New Year! We have celebrated so many holidays in the last 3 months. We had our annual Halloween Parade around Waban’s Main Campus. Children practiced the trick-or-treating routine and were able to be successful during this fun event. They all received fun toys and stickers in their bags. The staff in each classroom and administration also participated in the fun with dressing up as Dominos, Pete the Cat, The Old Lady who Swallowed a Fly, Reinforcers, and Minnie Mouse. It was great to see everyone with smiles on their face and be part of a wonderful center activity.

Not long after Halloween, we had our annual Thanksgiving Dinner and students were able to eat turkey and all of the fixings prepared by our Kitchen Coordinator, Heidi.

Students participated in many other creative Thanksgiving activities as well.

We enjoyed a visit from Sanford Police Officer Sarah E. Howe. Officer Howe visited each of our classrooms and students were able to interact with her and see the tools that she uses on the job. This was a great positive experience for students to have with a member of local law enforcement. We want to send out a special thank you to Officer Howe and look forward to her coming back to visit.
Development Center

We were thrilled by a visit from Santa Claus and his elves to each of our classrooms! Students were very excited to meet Santa and tell him what they wanted for Christmas. Santa used his iPhone to show the children photos of his reindeer. Each student received a stuffed animal from Santa and sang “Rudolph the Red Nosed Reindeer” with him. Our daycare students had been practicing a song for Santa and his elves, and did a great job singing it to him.

It was wonderful to see the holiday spirit come alive at the center with students and staff. We would like to send out a special thank you to Santa and the elves from the Wells and Ogunquit Chambers of Commerce, who donate their time each year to make this special event possible for our students.

In December, members from Life Works came to carol with our students. We sang Rudolph and We Wish You a Merry Christmas. It was great to see members of all ages singing together and spreading a holiday spirit. Great fun was had by all! In addition, we wish a great big thank you to the Portsmouth Naval Shipyard, who donated gifts to each of the students at the center through the Caravan of Toys. We appreciate their generosity each year.

A few more exciting things have happened in December and in January that we would like to tell you about. The first is that when you pull into the Center it looks a little different because we have started the tree clearing for the Autism Therapy Wing addition!! Students loved seeing all of the heavy equipment in the parking lot and seeing the trees come down! We have also opened a new classroom, RISE 6, at the beginning of January and will be able to provide programming to 6 additional students.

Members at Life Works have enjoyed our seasonal holiday traditions and created new traditions for years to come. The Annual Festival of Trees in Westbrook welcomed our participation again this year with a holiday TREE adorned with ornaments that members had created. Several new ornaments were made this year, and the decorators were excited to add new garland to the tree. Verna and friend returned this year and volunteered their time and resources to make homemade cinnamon ornaments.

Steve, the owner of Belgium Meadows, entertained two groups, one which included a horse drawn sleigh ride on the freshly fallen snow.

Members enjoyed another year of visiting the Kennebunk Christmas Prelude and taking in the beautifully decorated downtown. We thank Farmfield Greenhouses in Lebanon for their donation of spruce clippings. In addition to the wonderful aromatic pine scents that filled our program, members made holiday wreaths and swags to decorate their homes for the holiday.

As in years past, we had another fabulous time watching The Nutcracker at the Merrill Auditorium. Our members look forward to attending The Nutcracker play each year, and this year over 25 members attended.
New this year, our Performing Arts group took their talents on the road and prepared several festive songs to sing to the children at Waban’s Child Development Center and for those who attended the agency Holiday Party. One of our Culinary Groups made Holiday Cookies to share at the Holiday Party and had a blast visiting with Mr. & Mrs. Claus and having a Polaroid selfie of proof.

Our four-legged furry friends at the local animal shelters were not forgotten as members made homemade treats and toys to deliver to the animal shelter.

Adventure Group members utilized the last few sunny days in November to hold the first annual cardboard kayak race. The group worked together to build a kayak out of cardboard and duct tape. Briana volunteered to test the boat out and was able to paddle a few feet before taking on too much water. The group is already planning their design for next year.

Over the last few months, Adventure Group Members had the opportunity to work on a project with Unity College and their Adventure Therapy students. The intention of the project was to form connections with outside adventure groups to “enhance learner relationships, and implement safe field work practices while delivering innovative and effective experiential curriculum.” Members visited the college and hosted the students at the TREE Center to develop new program ideas such as team building activities and low ropes course elements. The groups plan to continue to work together to create exciting opportunities for the Adventure Group members.

The group has not let the cold weather slow them down. Members are currently working on several projects such as building a lean-to shelter and developing local weather condition charts. The group has been staying active participating in snowshoe hikes, cardio-kickboxing lessons, and ice skating.

Until next time, be safe and be well,
Melissa Hall, Life Works Director
Lenox Street

A day at Lenox Street... mornings are especially busy here at Lenox Street preparing four or five of the ladies for community day programs, where they enjoy good times with friends and exciting activities. The ladies that don’t go to day program stay busy attending ladies’ group each week and watching favorite TV shows like The Price Is Right and Let’s Make A Deal. Jeannine loves to color and share her beautiful artwork with staff and friends alike. Elsie always has a smile on her face and pig tail braids as she tells you what she won on The Price Is Right.

Most afternoons when you walk through the door, you will be greeted by Pam as she is reclining in her chair watching her favorite TV show, Reba. She is usually in good company with Elsie and Ruth. As you stroll down the hallway you will most likely find Lorraine with a big smile asking, “Who’s here?” Jeannine might grace you with a visit if she is not watching her cowboys on TV in her room. If you’re lucky you might catch Jane at home if she’s not busy working at Hannaford, or at exercise group, or karate.

In the evening you will find Ruth ready to give a helping hand in the kitchen, as they prepare for a nice family style dinner. Pam and Ruth love to share the recipes they make at day program and yum, what good eats! When it’s time to clean up, all the ladies give a helping hand as many hands make light work. From laundry to showers, nothing goes as planned but staff are always here to give a helping hand. These six wonderful ladies enjoy spending time at the community church dinners, where they socialize, making new friends and visiting with old ones, too. The ladies always find time to visit the local Dunkin Donuts for their favorite beverage - a large flavored water. Sometimes they even bring one home for a friend to share. Trips to Dollar Tree are fun, as they buy their arts and crafts supplies. We work well as a team, staff and members alike getting the job done so we can all have a good night!

Riverview 2

Riverview 2 had a lot of fun-filled outings over the last several months. Besides just enjoying the beautiful weather this past summer had to offer, members enjoyed many outings as a house and with peers at Waban.

They enjoyed a trip to York’s Wild Kingdom in remembrance of house mate Linda Hubert who passed in June of last year. The trip was generously donated by her family in gratitude for what the housemates and staff had provided for Linda in her final months.

Both Lisa and Matt had a blast at Fun Town SplashTown taking in the rides, the food, and the water with many friends from Waban. Matt is such a dare devil going on the tower drop. They also loved going to the Acton Fair, eating great fair food, and seeing the animals.

Matt hosted his annual family BBQ with a different spin this year. Family, housemate Lisa and Matt all displayed their talents with their art work. It was very impressive to see such talent and everyone had such a great time. They look forward to doing it again next year.

Lisa and Matt took a step into the past and saw what it would be like to be on the Titanic at the Portland Science Museum exhibit. The Titanic is one of Matt’s favorite topics and he was so excited to see it up close and personal.

The Holidays were wonderful and though they have come and gone, we are hoping for a quiet winter. Before long, we will be gearing up for another fun filled spring, summer and fall. So much to look forward to in the year to come!

Hello from everyone at Ridley Road 2! Now that the Holidays have come to an end and we’re looking at colder temps, it’s time to relax and take things easy and wait for the sun. We have all been enjoying the snow and time with all of our families.

Ansel has had a wonderful winter visiting with his family for a much deserved getaway. He’s been going on walks, going out to eat, spending the day painting ceramics at Get Fired Up, bowling, and even enjoying a horse-drawn carriage ride to check out all the wonderful Christmas lights. The Ridley Road team is really excited to start a new form of communication with him because we all have faith that Ansel will go far with it.

Joshua has enjoyed attending Life Works and has begun the first steps to employment! He volunteers at Another Chance Animal Rescue here in Sanford and really loves spending some time with the cats and kittens that can be found there waiting to purr and get brushed. He also joined the bowling league, which is a new activity for him and is a great opportunity to meet new people.

Scott has been showing his humorous side and has taken on a new hobby of cracking jokes and doing impersonations. His love for game shows continues to grow, and he recently began exploring his favorite game shows online. Scott also joined the bowling league and we have found out quickly that he’s a talented bowler with extremely large bowling scores! He has been out with family and friends and is settling in nicely to his home.

Jenna continues to make strides daily. She is becoming comfortable with the staff and her new home. Jenna has gone out on some visits with her family, has attended a Life Works dance, and is patiently awaiting the times when she can take a quick dip in a local lake! Jenna attends the Morrison Center in Wells and has been doing really well with an expanded variety of activities.

School Street

The School Street ladies have been busy. Pam and Wanda celebrated birthdays with cake, good food and friends! Pam, Donna and Lynn all participated in the weekly fall bowling league and enjoyed the pizza party at the end. Donna has been brushing up on her bowling skills with a friend.

Danielle has been enjoying her time visiting with the kitties at Safe Haven and volunteers at a horse farm, visiting with horses and assisting with cleaning out the stalls. She was treated to a day with her dad to see Disney On Ice and then got to go out to dinner.

Wanda has been showing off her artistic talents at pottery at the Trafton Center with her lady friends. She was invited to a Yankee swap at a Trafton Center friend’s house and enjoyed some holiday cheer with her friends. She has been keeping in shape this winter with weekly trips to the pool. Wanda hosted ladies group at School Street with some of her lady friends. They worked on crafts and enjoyed a some Christmas cookies and tea.

Lynn has been busy as a bee using her embroidery machine making t-shirts, bookmarks and earrings when she is not busy working at the YMCA in Springvale. She enjoys spending time out for coffee or basketball games, and cheering on the local high school teams with her boyfriend. Donna has been enjoying making hooked rugs.

The ladies all spent some time over the holidays with their family and friends. They enjoyed some holiday cheer with their yearly gift exchange with their housemates and indulged in a Chinese buffet.

Whitcomb Avenue

The residents at Whitcomb had a busy couple of months surrounding the New Year, from members going out into the community for holiday events throughout December to gaining a new member in January. We love to keep busy! All of our ladies love doing arts and crafts in their free time along with watching movies together, enjoying the community dinners at Curtis Lake Church, and eating at Mackenzie’s Diner.

Rachael is our newest member and joined us in January. Rachael goes to Life Works Monday through Friday, and can usually be found watching one of her favorite movies, such as Men in Black, when she is home. Rachael is a huge help around the house; she loves to assist staff with cooking dinner and going grocery shopping for the home.

Melissa is another huge helper in the home who loves to assist with grocery shopping, cooking dinner, cleaning around the house, and anything else she deems is “her job” to do. Melissa always looks forward to going to Life Works Monday through Friday. When asked, Melissa says her favorite part about Life Works is going senior shopping and of course, Friday Fun Day! When she’s not at Life Works or home, Melissa can be found showing everyone her dance moves at the Cheers dances, getting a coffee out in the community, or making a new pottery piece at Get Fired Up!

Nancy stays home throughout the week but enjoys going to Ladies Group to socialize on Thursdays. Nancy is an avid Wizard of Oz and Cinderella fan and watches both movies daily! When not at home she can be found at Dunkin Donuts drinking her favorite drink, Hazelnut coffee, watching any parade happening in the area, or visiting with her family around the holidays.

Cassandra Hagins,
Residential Program Assistant
Old Mill Road

The big wheel keeps on turning at Old Mill, and the cooler weather is not slowing them down. The gentlemen hosted their annual Halloween party, costumed as a Dunkin’ Donuts to go cup, Zeus, and a Rastafarian to welcome their large group of guests with tricks and treats.

Walter has been staying as busy as usual, attending both Life Works and Creative Trails day programming. Volunteering at church suppers, bowling league, and exercising at CrossFit with a friend has kept him just as busy in the evenings. Walter enjoyed the Holiday festivities attending The Nutcracker in Portland, and the Christmas Prelude fireworks in Kennebunkport, capping the Holidays off with a dinner with his family. Walter looks forward to what 2017 has to bring, and is planning on CrossFitting himself to his healthier New Year resolution.

James continues to find success at his job at Market Basket, and has rung in his second anniversary with them. He enjoyed the best of the foliage views North Conway had to offer this season on a beautiful train ride through the valley and mountains. He not only enjoyed a delicious meal, but also conversation with travelers from as close as Boston and as far away as Germany. Jim attended the Christmas Prelude fireworks, and spent the holidays at friend’s home. He plans to keep going full steam ahead into 2017 and keep his resolution to keep his thumb green and his plants growing as large as they can.

Bobby spent a large portion of his holidays with family, embracing with a boastful joy his new role as an uncle. He did find time to see The Nutcracker in Portland between his family obligations. Iced tea in hand, Bobby can be found around town window shopping, or jamming to his country music. He enjoys a “dude’s night” once a month with his best friend, getting pizza, cheap eats, or maybe bowling. He also makes plenty of time for his number one girl, and looks forward to date nights.

Cottage Hill

As summer turned to autumn and then slowly rambled into winter, the 4 ladies at Cottage Hill were not deterred by anything Mother Nature threw our way in trying to stay active and having fun.

Adrien had a most memorable experience this past summer fulfilling a life’s dream of being able to surf. She worked with a surfer’s group locally to make it happen. Whereas she loves to dance and keep moving, she looks forward now to opportunities to show off her moves, in the house and in the community. She enjoys her down time playing on her computer and/or listening to music (and singing along to her favorite songs). She also has been enjoying the continued proximity to her family and enjoys spending time with them as well.

Michelle is a “home body” and enjoys time relaxing and hanging out with her housemates. Michelle has been enjoying more “hands-on” craft activities lately, such as painting and creating shapes with Play-doh. She also enjoys finding the brightest, sunniest areas of the house throughout the day and has strategically placed rockers to be able to enjoy.

Jeanne, once again, went for her annual trip to North Conway and, since her younger years, continues to have a blast (especially at the inside water park!). Jeanne attends the monthly Ladies’ Group where she gets to socialize with her peers. One activity that Jeanne has looked forward to during the last several months is meeting up with her mother at a local movie theater to watch Sunday afternoon New England Patriot’s games. She fits right in with the cheering and enjoys the time in the community with her mother.

Betty Jean continues to enjoy photography and purchased a new tablet to support this. She likes being outside, so nature photography is her focus. She always is willing to offer a helping hand with getting things done around the house, including spending time in the kitchen during meal preparations.

By the time Cottage Hill has an opportunity to check in again, the four ladies will have welcomed in a new house mate. They all continue to be engaged socially and very active, both in the home and in the community.

Kimberly Clement, Administrator
The case managers in Children’s Case Management participated with local organizations during the holiday season delivering toys and food to many families. Turkey baskets were prepared at the Food Pantry in November for distribution to York County families who had signed up for the program. Waban’s case managers delivered to 93 of those families. Each basket contained a turkey and all the traditional trimmings, stuffing, gravy, squash, potatoes and more.

In December, case managers worked with the Portland Press Herald’s Bruce Roberts Toy Fund to deliver toys to families who had signed up their children, age birth to 18 years, for Christmas gifts. The Toy Fund receives donations throughout the year and then coordinates the purchase of toys, puzzles, arts & crafts and many other age-appropriate gifts for thousands of children in five counties: York, Cumberland, Knox, Sagadahoc and Lincoln. Waban’s case workers received a huge pile of bags filled with toys and delivered to 65 needy York County families.
people be defined by the limits of their disabilities, have instead chosen to see the ability in disability.

These collective efforts have also achieved something extraordinary… systems of care for children and adults that have led to numerous individual successes and accomplishments that no one would have thought possible. But, the work has not been easy, and there has been the adversity of stigma, inadequate funding, state budget reductions, and the challenge of finding staff that are willing and able to do this essential work.

Even today, 50 years after Waban was founded and 21 years since Pineland, Maine’s institution for people with disabilities, was finally closed, the battles and struggles continue. Since 2007, the reimbursement rate we get for our adult services has been reduced 30%. That means that we get paid $.70 for every $1.00 of expense we have. We have kept our “belts tight”, implemented many efficiencies, and increased our fundraising efforts in order to address this.

Yet that has not been enough, and the only other way we have been able to make things work through the years with such limited funds has been through our wage scale for our direct care workers. We have not been able to pay them, our everyday champions, what they deserve. This has led to a “workforce crisis” where we are not able to find enough staff to provide these critically needed services.

That is why, along with other providers across the state, we are working with legislators from both sides of the aisle and have drafted a bill that will simply increase our funding back to its original 2007 level. This sounds simple and reasonable, but with over 1,800 bills to consider and a $6.4 billion dollar state budget, there are many demands on legislators’ time and on the state budget process.

As the bill works its way through the legislature, I will be reaching out to all of you and asking you once again to stand up for those in need by contacting your individual legislators and asking them to do the right thing. This won’t be easy, and it will require all of our grit and determination to be successful, especially when no one thinks that we can.

So, to each of you, let the “games” continue. I am certain we will prevail, as we have for all these years, because there are those in need who are counting on us and after all, we are champions.
